THE HUMAN HAIR

HAS LONG BEEN THE STUDY OF THE most scientific men of the age, from the fact that mental study generally causes the hair to fall off prematurely; and, in consequence, they have given the subject a portion of their valuable time, trying to invent some method to regain their lost locks; but all their labor was in vain, until

PROFESSOR CROCKETT after many years of hard study devoted to this one subject, has produced an article that

WILL MAKE THE HAIR GROW, and which, by its use as a Hair Dressing, will effectually and always prevent its loss—even to extreme old age. Happily, the AMYGDALINE while possessing these virtues, is most delightful and agreeable without regard to their virtue. The hair when diseased, becomes dry, and commences to turn grey, which is caused by the non-secretion by the capillary glands of a peculiar oil. It was therefore been thought and believed that if the glands were stimulated into action, they would still give a sufficient supply of nourishment to the hair; but alas! they forget one very important law of nature, viz: that ALL STIMULANTS HAVE THEIR REACTIONS; and the more the glands were stimulated—the sooner the final loss of the much prized locks. The principle of the preparation invented by Professor Crockett is entirely the opposite—instead of stimulating the capillary glands, he feeds them with the substance they require, and, in turn, the hair is fed by them—on the same principle as giving water to a flower. All we will say to those who are timid about trying new preparations is, that we strictly guarantee the AMYGDALINE to be entirely free from all stimulants, and is as harmless as filtered water, and can be used on the smallest infant. As a

Hair Dressing it is unequalled by any the world has yet produced. It keeps the head entirely free of dandruff eruptions, pimples—imparting to the hair a beautiful glossiness not obtained by an known compound. It will also be found both pleasant and useful as a Cosmetiques, surpassing cold cream and face lotions in its effects; for chaps, sore breast and nipples we know of no remedy that is equal to it.

THE PERFUME used is such that the AMYGDALINE will always retain, it will not become rancid by age; in fact, it is perfect in every particular. Professor Crockett's Amygdaline can be had of all druggists and dealers everywhere. Price 50 cents.

Ask for Crockett's Amygdaline, and take no other. se25-6m

THE NEW GOSPEL OF PEACE.

ACCORDING TO BENJAMIN.

CHAPTER V.

1. Now when the news came that the Phiretahs of the South with five thousand men, even a great multitude, had driven one of the captains of Unculpsalm with a band of ninety out of his stronghold, and when a proclamation of Abraham was spread abroad, calling on the men of Unculpsalm for the defence of their nation, and the retaking of its strongholds, and the setting up of its banner which had been cast down, the men of Gotham gathered themselves together in an open place before the world. And Phernandiwud came also among them.

2. And each man that day out of whom had been cast the spirit Bak Bohn, took to himself another worse than the first. And it seemed that day that in all Gotham there was not one righteous.

3. And Phernandiwud saw this. So he also straightway took to himself a Bak Bohn.

4. For he said, Lest they also declare that I shall no longer be chief ruler of the city.

5. And many men of Gotham spake unto the people. Phernandiwud also lifted up his voice and said, Hear, O men of Unculpsalm! Give ear, O men of Gotham! The rulers of the land of Unculpsalm chosen according to the Great Covenant have been defied. The Great Covenant itself hath been set at naught. The banner of Unculpsalm hath been cast down. The men of the South begin to make good their threats that they would destroy this nation.

6. But I say unto you, in the words of the great ruler Jah Xunn, whom to our sorrow we have gathered to his fathers, This nation must and shall be preserved, peaceably if we can, forcibly if we must. And let us have a strong rule and a splendid despotism, that we may do this thing as becometh a great nation. For I have said always aforetime, as ye can bear me witness, Let us strengthen the hands of the chief rulers, being myself chief ruler of this city. Hear therefore my pledge unto you this day, I throw myself into this strife, with all my power and with all my might.

7. Now there were men who noted that Phernandiwud pledged himself with all his power and with all his might, but not with all his soul. And they said, It is because he hath sold his soul unto the mighty spirit Sathanas, that he should help him. And others said, Not so; for he had no soul to sell. But these were scoffers and men of Belial.

8. But Benjamin, the brother of Phernandiwud, even Benjamin the scribe, came not unto the congregation of the people, but remained at home in his house, exceeding wroth and very sorrowful. For he said, Behold this people is given over to the spirit Bak Bohn, and into the hands of the men of Belial, who teach that the power of Unculpsalm, and the might of the banner of Unculpsalm, may not be used to oppress the Niggah. And this people will no more compromise itself before the men of the South; and there will be no more Phlunkees, and the everlasting Niggah shall cease from off the land. And he wept him sore; and cried out aloud, The sceptre hath departed from the Dimmichrats, and the glory from the tents of Tammee!

9. And he wrote against the people of the North, and sought to exorcise the mighty spirit Bak Bohn, and to cast it out of them. But he could not.

10. Now Benjamin the Scribe was also a just man, and a righteous, and walked uprightly before the law.

11. For the law said, Thou shalt not live by casting lots for gold. For he who liveth by casting lots for gold deceiveth the foolish man to his hurt, and defraudeth the widow and the fatherless. It is an abomination. And he that liveth by casting lots for gold shall be guilty and shall be cast into prison.

12. Wherefore Benjamin being a just man and a righteous, said, I will not live by casting lots for gold. Far be it from me to do this thing which is unlawful, and which will get me into prison. But I will sell policies; and this shall be the craft by which I will live.

13. For what saith the prophet Daniel (not Sickles)? "And through his policy also shall he cause craft to prosper in his hand; and he shall magnify himself in his heart."

14. For Benjamin also searchad the Scripture, saying: Peradventure I may find therein something to my advantage.

15. Wherefore Benjamin the Scribe, through his policies, caused craft to prosper in his hand, and magnified himself in his heart.

16. And he said within himself, I will be a lawgiver in the land of Unculpsalm, even for the men of Gotham. Wherefore he also made unto himself friends among the Pahdees; and he became a lawgiver in the land.

17. But the men of Gotham cast out Phernandiwud from his office of chief ruler of the city, because they remembered that he had compromised upon his belly to Robert who dwelt among the tombs, and had eaten dirt before him. Also that he had said, Let us take our city out of the nation. So they put no trust in him.

18. Now so it was that after the space of nearly two years the war which was in the land of Unculpsalm came not to an end.

19. For the men of the North and the men of the South were of one blood; and both were valiant. And the men of the North were more in number than the men of the South. But the men of the South multiplied themselves because of their Niggahs. For their Niggahs went not to war, but stayed at home to till the soil. Moreover, they were fighting upon their own ground; and much of their land was mire and marshes, desert land and wilderness, through which the armies of Unculpsalm wandered vainly and where they stuck fast. And the men of the South cast up mounds upon their roads, and before their cities, and made strong their high places and towers. And their land was filled with strong places, and with men of war and engines of war, such as the men of the North looked not to see in that land.

20. For the men of the South were astonished when the men of the North marched against them; because the men of the North had so often compromised themselves unto them that they thought they were all Phlunkees, and that the great spirit Bak Bohn had been utterly cast out of them, and without that spirit men cannot fight.

21. Wherefore the men of the South which had Niggahs, even the Tshivulree and the Phiretahs, seeing that their case was desperate, forced all the men of their country into their armies, and took the men which had respect unto the government of Unculpsalm, and would not fight against it, and they cast them into pits and into dungeons, and scourged them, and hanged them upon trees, after their manner. And being men of blood, and seeing that their case was desperate, they made it a terror to live in their country except to them that professed to desire the destruction of the nation. So all men professed to desire it, or held their peace.

22. But in the land of the men of the North no man was molested. And men of the South dwelt there, and were spies and helpers unto their brethren. And men of the North, men of peace, which also were Phlunkees, helped their masters the Tshivulree and Phiretahs.

23. And the men of the South had among them great captains; men of might and wisdom in batile. And they chose to be ruler over them Jeph, surnamed the Repudiator.

24. (Now among the men of Unculpsalm when a man would neither pay the debt that he owed, nor acknowledge it and ask it to be forgiven him, he was called a repudiator.)

25. And Jeph had been captain over a thousand in the armies of Unculpsalm when they went into Mexicho, and had also been one of the great Council; and he was a bold man and a crafty, one who knew neither fear nor scruple.

26. Moreover, the men of the South were helped mightily from beyond the sea, even by the men of the kingdom of Jonbool, from which their land was wrested by the forefathers of the men of Unculpsalm.

27. Yet the men of Unculpsalm would have loved the men of that nation, even as a son loveth his mother which bore him. But the nobles and the rich men of Jonbool scorned the men of Unculpsalm, and would none of their affection, and made light of their honor.

28. For the men of Unculpsalm had forgiven the men of Jonbool their oppression and their scorn, and had shown their Prince great honor; but the men who governed that nation had not forgiven the men of Unculpsalm their victory. And the prosperity and the glory of that land was an offense unto them. And certain of their scribes, which also were Phlunkees, wrote scornfully against the land of Unculpsalm, and bore false witness against it from generation to generation, and got thereby gold and honor in the land of Jonbool.

29. Wherefore, when the Tshivulree and the Phiretahs lifted up the standard of revolt, the rulers of the land of Jonbool said one to another,

30. Lo, the time for which we have waited without hope draweth nigh; and the land of Unculpsalm may be divided, and the nation destroyed, and the pride of the people cast down. And the might of their power shall be broken, and the glory of that land shall no longer be an offense unto us, and we shall be avenged without peril and without cost.

31. Likewise, also, said the nobles and the great men of other lands, where the few devoured the substance of the many.

32. So the rulers of the land of Jonbool made proclamation to all the earth, that in that war they would regard the men of the South which had revolted even as they regarded the rulers of the land chosen according to the Great Covenant. For they said, Thus shall we encourage them, and give aid to them; and it shall cost us nothing; and after this they will be more ashamed to submit themselves unto the law which they have broken, and to the rulers whom they have defied.

33. And the nobles and the merchants of that land, which aforetime had cursed and reviled the Tshivulree and the Phiretahs, and had imputed to them the deeds which were theirs only unto all the men of Unculpsalm, said Amen.

34. And the merchants of Jonbool sold the Phiretahs merchandise, and the armorers made them arms, and the ship-men builded them ships, swift and mighty, wherewith to destroy the ships of the men of the North. For they said, Thus shall we be avenged, and turn, also, every man an honest penny. State-craft and business shall prosper together, and profit go hand in hand with pleasure.

35. And thus was the rebellion strengthened in the land of Unculpsalm; so that although the armies of Unculpsalm drove the men of the South out of much country where they had set up their banners, and captured their chief cities, and held all that they had taken, yet after two years were not their armies scattered or destroyed, or their ships which the men of Jonbool had builded for them, driven from the sea.

DESOLATION IN THE SOUTHERN STATES.—A lady who has managed to return from what was once the wealthiest and most prosperous part of Alabama, makes this statement concerning the condition and spirit of the Southern people:

The desolation of the Southern States beggars description. Destitution and poverty have taken the place of opulence and prosperity.—Men that were worth hundreds of thousands are reduced to utter poverty. As for the luxuries of life, formerly so abundant in the South, there are none. Those formerly the wealthiest have nothing to sustain life but what the country affords, and not enough of that, for by impressment it is taken from them for the army. Their garments, even their shoes, the families have to make themselves; they spin, weave and dye their cotton and homespun clothes rich and poor. Tea, coffee and sugar are not to be had; milk and water are their only beverages; Indian corn is their principal food. The families are broken up and ruined. You seldom meet with a male inhabitant, and if you do he is either infirm or a cripple. A large portion of the male population are killed in battle, many more crippled for lifetime; many patriotic Union men died of a broken heart. What remain are in the army or in the employment of the government. Nevertheless press-gangs are scouring the country in all directions in search of men for the army. All ties of social life are completely dissolved. No courts of justice or equity are held—justice is meted out by the military. Universities, colleges and schools are all suspended. The country in many places resembles a wilderness. Wherever the armies march, there everything is ruined—the crops destroyed, fences burned, trees cut down, domestic animals killed, robbed, or taken for the army. But whatever the Southern people may suffer, they bear it with heroism and resignation; they have little hope of success. There are very few, if any, that prefer ignominy to death. Under the impending Congressional and Presidential measures, they deem it impossible to surrender at discretion, and are resigned to utter destruction.

A COUNTRY'S richest possessions are the great words that have said in it, and the great deeds that have been done in it.

THE OLD STORY.

BY A CONTRIBUTOR.

SCENE I.—THE VISITOR.

'Tis evening. Calm, beautiful evening. The last rays of day-light have kissed their farewell to the eastern hills and rocks beyond the western mountains to their mighty couch. Twilight folds around her mystic veil of purple shades and the whippoorwill chimes his song from some dark copse, as its fare well to-day; the cloudless sky is gemmed here and there with pale stars that seem like distant worlds kindled one by one into existence.

A beautiful maiden sits by the window of her parent's lordly mansion, and a distant observer see but a fair being gazing out upon, and admiring the beauty of the night. But we will approach softly, for fear we break the revery into which she has fallen; as we creep under her window we may see her lips move, and oh, she is pale, fearfully pale, and her eyes are wet with tears, her lips quiver, and her voice is tremulous too. She must be unhappy; why is it? But hark! she is speaking, and the voice at first is scarcely audible, but sweet, and we hear her say: "My God! has he deserted me and left me to my shame! Who is there that will credit that the belle and heiress has thus disgraced, not only herself but her parents and all her friends. I have fallen, and oh, how I have fallen! He was tender and affectionate, and his eyes spoke volumes of love to a heart that was willing, very willing, to hear and believe. Will they blame him when it is discovered? No; he will be thought none the less of; but I must be scouted from society as a wanderer and an outcast. Must it be? He'd not leave me now, when he knows how well I love him." Let us leave her and seek in

SCENE II.—THE RECEIVER.

It is a dark evening, and in the halls of festivity we shall discover him of whom the only actor in scene first spoke. It is the noble looking young man who sits at the head of the table, just now raising the bejewelled goblet to his lips, and he says: "Here is a glass to the fair belle and heiress of M——, drink with me, friends, and afterwards I will tell you the tale."

The glasses were raised to every lip, and each tumbler returned empty to the table. The story, the story, issues from every lip.

And then the wretch began to relate the story of her dishonor; how loving and confiding she was; how, with serpent tongue he lured her on, until her heart, aye her very soul was all his own; how, under the sacred promise of marriage, (no, he does not tell that she fell in confiding all to him; how her love, or him had conquered every principle of virtue and honor, and in his pollution arms forgot all her disgrace. And that base gang commend the villain monster for his cunning and skill.

This is a strange world. He who is the cause of misery; the arch deceiver, the blaster of innocence; the hellish plunderer that heaven detests and earth is ashamed of, is lauded to the skies for his skill; skill forsooth; skill that blasts for ever the fairest flower of beauty and innocence; skill that stoops its own level the fair and the pure; skill that weaves a triple web of condemnation around his cursed form and features. And the victim; how gets she on? Despised and scouted, she receives the curse who deserves it not; who, but for the tempter's persuasions would even now bask in happiness.

SCENE III.—THE OUTCAST.

It is a tempestuous night in mid-winter, and a poor half-clothed, half-starved creature wanders through the driving storm. Her babe is pressed close to her bosom, and she would hush its piteous cries to a forgetfulness of its pains and sufferings. Alone and almost crazed, she wanders through the heaps of chilling snow that blocks up her pathway. What seeks she?—Food for her poor babe! No house, no light greet her weary eye as it restlessly roams over the barren waste of driving sleet and blinding frost. Her limbs are benumbed with cold, and they almost refuse their office; the thinking of her boy again, she struggles on in hopes to secure some friendly shelter. Her babe is now still; she thinks it sleeps; and it does—the last, still sleep of death! Its limbs are still with cold, and the tear-drops that last fell are frozen to its wan cheeks and snow cold eyelids. She knows not that it is dead, till she presses her lips to its clammy brow and feels that the affectionate pressure is upon ice; then she sinks upon the snow, and with the dead babe pressed to her bosom, murmurs "All Good—all gone! And I am alone; alone to die, the crisping snow my death bed, and the howling storm chants my dying hymn and a lullaby to my innocent child." This, man, is the work, she once was beautiful; once was lovely, once was respected, and to gratify thy inordinate passions, and base desires, you have made her thus.

SCENE IV.—THE DISCOVERY.

It is morning; and as the curtain of night slowly withdraws, the sun rises over this last sad picture. A gay equipage dashes over the crusted snow. The merry sleigh-bells jingle to the tread of the high-spirited horses. The deceiver, with a light heart and conscience free from the "still small voice," rein his mettled steeds to one side as a dark object is seen hung across the road. He sees a human being, and springing from his sleigh he brushes the white mantle from its face. He recognizes the form; still beautiful in the embrace of death. Is his heart touched now; does his conscience, before so free, bring poisonous stings for the demon work he has accomplished. In charity we hope so. We will now leave and as we look back we see his form bent over the cold corpses, his hands press his bursting brain, and all else is forgotten but the sense of sight and reproving memory.

"This is the "old story," and a true one; and at some future day we may trace out the fate of him whom we thus leave in full view of the terrible wreck he has produced.

HORRIBLE.—Henry Schroom, butcher, living on Brannan street, San Francisco, was arrested on the 20th for beating his wife, who then left him. He sold his furniture, was convicted in the Police Court, and ordered to appear for sentence. On the 21st he went out to the Potrero in search of his wife, and meeting her in the street, shot her in the neck and side with a revolver, and then putting the pistol to his mouth fired it through his skull, dying instantly. The woman still lives, and has been sent to the hospital. They have but one child.

SLOW newspapers are sometimes printed on fast presses.

DUTCH FLAT ENQUIRER.

SATURDAY MORNING, DEC. 31, 1864.

Now, by St. Paul, the work goes bravely on,
The Stars and Stripes are up for Liberty,
Flag of the Nation--Talisman of the Free,
Curs'd be the hand that dares to tear thee down.

☞ PERSONS who fail to receive their papers regularly will confer a favor by reporting the fact to the proprietor.

CATHOLIC SERVICE.—There will be Catholic service at the Theater in Dutch Flat tomorrow (Sunday) at 10 o'clock, A. M. Father Callan will officiate. All are invited to attend.

ROBBERIES.—On Christmas night the storeroom of Mr. D. Meyers, situated in the rear of his saloon, was broken open, and a quantity of liquors, wines, etc., abstracted and carried off. The amount taken cannot be well ascertained, as it was contained in barrels. The thief no doubt supplied himself liberally, and in all probability, through its stimulating influence, will enjoy himself hugely during the holidays. We hope he may get drunk and commit some deed that may lead to his detection or consign him to the State Prison.

ANOTHER.—On the same night a quarter of beef was stolen from the butcher-shop of Mr. C. Seffens.

STILL ANOTHER.—A cabin near our town was entered on Monday last by a supposed "Knight of the Columbian Star," and a coat, pantaloons, pair of boots and other clothing stolen. The thief was followed by the owners of the property, and overhauled between here and Illinoistown. On Tuesday he was arraigned before Justice Aubury, and plead guilty. The Judge gave him the light sentence of six months imprisonment in the county jail. He proved to be one Benton, who has heretofore been loafing around town, and is doubtless an old offender.

AND YET ANOTHER.—On Tuesday night the garden in the rear of the dwelling of Mr. Philip Pfarr was entered, and a quantity of men's underclothing was abstracted from a line.

ESCAPED.—The thief Benton, who plead guilty to the charge of petty larceny on Tuesday last, we regret to say escaped from the officers the same night, and has not yet been retaken. He is a good sized man, of rather pleasing appearance and good address. We suppose he will avoid our community for the future, and confine his depredations to other localities, Look out for him.

ALMOST A FIRE.—The stove-pipe opening of the Antelope Restaurant caught fire on Sunday morning, creating quite a panic among the inmates, the feminine portion of whom are said to have rushed into the street very scantily attired. The fire was, however, soon extinguished with but little damage to the building. Our people cannot be too careful this weather, for a fire now would be a calamity indeed.

CHRISTMAS GIFT.—On Saturday night last, in the distribution of presents from the Christmas Tree, the Rev. J. A. Johnson received a purse containing $108 50. The generous gift came from parties unknown, and was totally unexpected, but was a deserved compliment and a proper as well as a substantial acknowledgment of the worth and standing of the gentleman in our community. In another column will be seen Mr. Johnson's card of acknowledgment.

DRAFT.—We notice that Capt W. H. Parks, Provost Marshal of Solano County, has given notice of the completion of the enrollment lists notifying all persons claiming exemption to appear before the Board of enrollment and procure their certificates. The principal causes of exemption are, 1st, alienage; 2nd, non-residence 3rd, over age; 4th, permanent physical disability. We do not know that it will be necessary to enforce a draft in this state or that one will be required, but if so, it will be well to be prepared fully by a proper enrollment, so that after the number has been drawn that may be required it will not be composed of disqualified persons, as has been too frequently the case in the eastern states. We will therefore call the attention of the provost authorities to the matter, and if our enrollment hereafter made, requires any correction it will be well to take proper measures to remedy it.

MR. BUCK commences his third term of writing school on Tuesday evening next. Persons desirous of acquiring a good style of this usefnl art would do well to attend.

MASONIC.—At regular communications of the Order, the following persons were elected as officers of the several Lodges named, for the ensuing year:

CLAY LODGE, No. 101.—J. Jones, W. M.; H. LeKamp, S. W.; J. S. Bloom, J. W.; E. L. Bradley, Treasurer; H. C. Kelsey, Secretary.

IONIC LODGE, No. 127.—Jas. Dods, W. M.; J. O, Spencer, S. W.; J. Vandevier, J. W.; H. C. Ladd, Treasurer; W. D. Lawrence, Secretary.

MOUNT CARMEL LODGE, No. 155.—W. A. Begole, W. M.; R. McGowan, S. W.; F. Enniss, J. W.; E. Williams, Treasurer; M. Combs, Secretary.

I. O. O. F.—At a regular meeting of Olive Lodge, No. 81, held at their hall in this place, Dec. 27th, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: J. I. Dunning, N. G.; E. M. Thomas, V. G.; W. C. Jones. Rec. Sec.; A. A. Ferguson, Per. Sec.; R. Hudepohl, Treasurer; J. Waters, Librarian.

WE call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Dr. W. Strong, to be found in another column. His stock of drugs and chemicals is large, well selected, and of the choicest qualities, and are sold cheaper than can be afforded by any other drug store in the county. Go and see him.

This number of the ENQUIRER will be our last issue for the present year, and in a few hours the above combination of figures to which we have all become so familiar, will be numbered among the dates of the past. Eighteen hundred and sixty-four has, on the whole, been an eventful year. While it has witnessed many individual sorrows, it has recorded many national victories—victories upon land and sea, scarcely marred by a reverse.

In Europe little has transpired calculated permanently to affect principles, nationalities, or individual interests. The Polish rebellion, we suppose, is effectually crushed out. Denmark has lost her little Duchies. The different German States have exhibited an uneasy but patriotic spirit, which, in a few more such propitious years will bring about a union, under one government, of the whole German race. On the whole, the fires of revolution in Europe—except in Poland—like the fires of Ætna, have slumbered during the year; and there is no evidence that during 1865 there may not be an eruption. One year ago it was supposed that before twelve months Victor Emanuel would absorb the Papal States and make "the Eternal City" the capital of the Kingdom of Italy; but the successor of St. Peter still occupies the Vatican, and late treaties look as if the great mass of American democrats would have the honor of looking to the Pope for their religion and their principles another year. France and England have behaved much better towards the United States during the twelve months last past than during the previous year. During the past year the British Government has seized several rebel ironclads being built in the Clyde, and since our 20-inch guns have proved a success the admiralty have discovered a law which forbids the fitting out of pirates in all British ports. In 1863 they "couldn't see it." Napoleon the little, as Hugo calls him, has "changed his base." He no longer gives his pirate friends privileges in his harbors, and denies them the use of the docks of the Empire, no matter how pressed they may be for repairs. For the first time in half a century the thunder of Yankee cannon has been heard in the English Channel, and the effect has been the same upon frog-eating Frenchmen and beef-eating Englishmen, and the result will be polite treatment during 1865.

It is in our own country that the really great events of 1864 have occurred. We have passed through an election which more than the experience of eighty years, more than the war itself has tested the strength of our institutions, the patriotism of our people and the capacity of man for self-government. The manner in which we passed through the late election in the midst of a great civil war achieving at once a victory over treason, and Ireland, and slavery, and barbarism generally, will cause us to be more respected abroad than to have won a dozen victories upon the battle-field. Our military operations during the year have been an almost unbroken success, costly victories, it is true, when bought at the expense of the heroes who sleep in the wilderness and on a hundred lesser fields.

The growth of the country in material wealth and prosperity during the year 1864 has been unparalleled. It is the universal testimony of those who have visited the East that business never was so lively, money never so plenty, the people never so prosperous, in the loyal States, as during the year about to close. In New York city, all the way from the Battery up to Forty-second street, not a blade of grass can be seen growing along the sidewalks. Notwithstanding the waste of a gigantic war, our fighting population is increasing faster than the fighting population of England or France.—Thousands of hardy emigrants have settled in the distant territories, and a new star has been added to the galaxy of States during the year. In short, our country never occupied so proud a position as she does these closing days of 1864. We have more taxable property than ever before. We have the mightiest iron-clad navy in the world, an army of half a million of veterans, and Sherman, and Grant, and old Farragut to boot. Loyal Americans can enter upon the new year with just confidence and grand hopes. God, money, brave hearts and big guns, will secure us a glorious future.

A word about ourselves. The course of the ENQUIRER since the question of treason or loyalty was forced squarely upon us by the nomination of McClellan will be an earnest of its course in the future. We have not much respect for the inconsistent consistency of those who cling to a party name, when the causes which produced its organization have passed away and all its distinctive principles have utterly perished. Slavery is dead—killed by the rebellion. We cannot honestly quarrel upon that question. If the rebellion has not also killed the old doctrine of State rights it has proved that no patriot can advocate it. There is not a solitary issue which formerly divided the Republicans and Democrats now before the country. True consistency then requires that Republicans and Democrats, if they are loyal, should act together. The only issue is our whole country or a part of it. On this issue, the editor of this paper, forgetting the dead questions of the past, will stand by the old flag until it waves in triumph over every State and and Territory in the country, and until the sounding of the last trump afterwards.

CORRECTION.—The Indian fight spoken of in our last was not so serious as was reported. The ear and nose were not bitten off, and we are told the eye was not seriously damaged. In fact, from the latest advices, it is doubtful whether the fight occurred at all, and it is certain that the squaw had no tar on her head.

RECENT OPERATIONS.—SHERMAN, HOOD AND THOMAS.

The recent operations in the southwest are unfolding themselves. We are permitted to scan the field, and the result redounds to the credit of our generals, and correspondingly to the discredit of the rebel generals. Sherman with his gallant army hewed out a road through the mountainous region of northern Georgia to Atlanta, one of its principal cities. In all of this opposed by the rebel general Hood and his army. Once there, the rebel general makes a move; we hear through the rebel papers of changes in the campaign, of moves to be made, of movements going on, etc., all of which, will of course, clean out the Yankees, Sherman and all. The result of this grand movement, is now manifest, and what is it? Hood retires from before Sherman and advances into Tennessee, doubtless dreaming that Sherman would be compelled to return and oppose with his victorious army his new advance; but in this he calculated without his host, for Sherman at once commenced a march through the enemies' country, the boldness of the conception of which and the daring of its execution is unequaled in the war, and after capturing the Capitol of Georgia finally establishes himself in communication with our fleet, at one of the principal cities of the rebel south. And this all done, too, without losing a foot of territory captured from the enemy. He leaves Thomas in command of Tennessee and the conquered rebel territory, and against this general the rebel host of Hood advance. The rebel papers boldly proclaim that Tennessee and Kentucky will be recovered and that treason will soon be in the ascendant; but their jubilant calculations and fiendish exultations have "turned to ashes on their lips" and the beaten and routed army of their fiery general is thrown pell-mell, disorganized and disgraced among them, and not one foot of rescued rebeldom regained by them. Hood according to authentic accounts has lost since he entered Tennessee 15,000 men and 61 cannon, and his retreating masses are pursued by Thomas. Hood thus overthrown, there is nothing to withstand our progress or prevent our conquering the South, for Sherman's movement through Georgia fully demonstrated the fact that the Confederacy "is a shell" and the crust being once broken, as it is, the final overthrow of the rebellion is at hand. All honor to our generals, Sherman and Thomas, and we might say to the rebel Hood too for while the South oppose to us such leaders of the caliber of Hood, we need fear no disaster.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT.

MR. EDITOR:—I wish, through your paper to thank those kind friends who remembered me with a generous purse on the Christmas Tree last Saturday evening. Being almost a stranger in the place, I was taken quite by surprise on receiving the gift, and bewildered by its value. For this unexpected and undeserved favor I return my humble thanks to my unknown friends, and beg to say that the good will which the gift expresses has cheered and moved me deeply, at the same time drawing my heart toward them with a strong desire to serve their highest interests as fully as I can.

J. A. JOHNSON.

Dutch Flat, Dec. 29, 1864.

FOUR YEARS OF REBELLION.—Just four years and three days ago to-day South Carolina inaugurated the work of rebellion. On the 20th day of December, 1850, the Legislature of that State passed the ordinance of secession, and declared her independence of the United States. Those were the romantic days of the rebellion. In imagination the chivalry basked in rays of glory from the "rising of the sun to the going down thereof," and dreams of glory pervaded their slumbers during the hours of night. The example set by South Carolina was soon followed by other States, and a blaze of excitement and wild frenzy pervaded the South. The hearts of the people, fired by the impassioned words of their leaders, and their minds corrupted by insidious teachings, a majority of the masses, without reflecting, were soon plunged headlong into the new movement.

At that time the South was enjoying an unexampled condition of prosperity—physically and socially. Her fields were teeming with abundance, and commerce daily showered wealth and luxuries at her feet. For eighty years had she grown, prospered and flourished in a manner unparalleled, under the old Government of the Union. Her citizens enjoyed to the fullest extent the blessings of civil and religious liberty, their persons and property were respected, and none molested them and none sought to make them afraid.

But in the plenitude of their madness they rebelled and made wanton war upon the Government and institutions under which for three-quarters of a century they had flourished as a people never before flourished. Bnd what a change has this unprovoked and wicked rebellion produced in their own condition! After four years of secession, compare the South with what it was after eighty years of submission to the Union. Her fields are now wasted, her towns destroyed, her commerce ruined, her slave property scattered to the four winds, her homes made desolate, many of her people in exile, and those remaining at home subjected to the most rigid tyranny ever known. They have bartered civil liberty for slavery, prosperity for adversity, wealth for poverty, luxury for abject want, feasting for famine, social enjoyment for suffering. The records of the world's history are searched in vain for another instance of such wholesale political suicide, such wanton self-destruction. Hereafter the mildest verdict that can be awarded to such a people is to declare that they were both ignorant and insane. But what shall be the verdict for the leaders who have thus, from the topmost heights of civil and social and physical prosperity, plunged their fellow-citizens into the lowest depths of horrors? The fabled tortures of the doubly-damned would be mild punishment to award to those who have thus wantonly sacrificed a great country.

What was the excuse for inaugurating a war which has been productive of such terrible results to those who commenced it? The election of Lincoln! Because Mr. Lincoln was elected President by a legal vote and according to Constitutional means, the leaders of the South induced the Southern people to aid them in this rebellion. Their real object was to found an empire based on slavery, to be ruled by an oligarchy, but the only excuse they put forth was that at the polls the leading Southern politicians had been defeated. Because for a time political influence of the leading Southern politicians had been checked at the polls, they persuaded their people into a course of conduct which has in four short years plunged them into social, political and financial ruin without a parallel in history. Not an instance has been given where one of their rights was ever trampled upon, where one of their privileges was ever abridged. They were simply annoyed by free discussion, and determined that the will of the majority, as expressed at the ballot-box, should not prevail. They rebelled against the right of free discussion and of the people to rule, and the result is before us.

We shed tears of blood over the terrible sufferings occasioned by this heinous rebellion, and language fails to express the punishment that should be meted out to the human fiends who wantonly occasioned them.—Sac. Bee.

BLANKS, TRUST DEEDS, AND CERTIFICATES OF INCORPORATION, for sale at this office.

DUTCH FLAT ENQUIRER.

THE FIRST SHALL BE LAST.—At two o'clock on Tuesday afternoon a young man whom we may call—though perhaps inappropriately—Groom No. 1, entered the Clerk's office to procure a marriage license, announcing his intention of marrying the young lady to be named in the license at eight o,clock in the evening. Deputy Clerk Parnell, after receiving the testimony as to the age required by law, issued the necessary document. At about six o'clock in the evening another young man—Groom No. 2 – made his appearance and applied to Deputy Clerk McCarthy for a license, announcing his intention to be married at seven o'clock in the evening. As in the former case the license was granted. It so happened that in each case the name of the bride was the same, but as the papers were issued by different clerks that fact was not at the time discovered. Groom No.1 had an arrangement to meet his bride at the residence of a clergyman on Seventh street near I, between seven and eight o'clock, for the consummation of the marriage. Soon after seven o'clock he made his appearance. On finding a carriage or two at the door he concluded that "that somebody must be getting married," and loitered on the sidewalk a few minutes to give them time to get through the ceremony and depart. Several minutes elapsed, when he asked the coachman and others who the parties were who were being married. His feelings on hearing the names of a rival lover and his affianced bride given as the parties may be imagined but not described. He at first concluded that the lady had been forced against her will to marry another, and talked about shooting him. On sober second thought, however, he changed his mind and concluded that there are as good fish remaining in the sea as have ever been caught, and yesterday morning returned the license to the Clerk's office with a request that it be cancelled. The young lady has resided in this city several months, having come across the plains last Summer. The presumption is that her affections were about equally divided between the two suitors, but that Groom No. 2, being a military man understood "strategy" better than his competitor and won the prize by greater "celerity of movement." Like the great General Napoleon the First, he understood "the value of minutes."—Sac. Union,27th.

THE DAVIS AND QUITMAN PLANTATIONS RESERVED FOR FREEDMEN.—A correspondent sends the New York Evening Post an order of Major-General Dana, placing the freedmen in his district, as many as can find room there upon the lands formerly possessed by Jeff. Davis and his brother Joseph, and by the heirs of General Quitman, of filibustering memory. These estates lie together in an easily defended "bend" of the Mississippi, called Palmyra Bend. They contain about ten thousand acres of arable land, and it is intended that cotton speculators shall be kept away from this point, which the negroes can defend, and where they can live in security and maintain themselves without expense to the Government.

HOPE FOR THE AFFLICTED.—In another part of this paper will be found the advertisement of the celebrated Institute established by Dr. J. C. YOUNG, in 1850. In this age of deceit and charlatanism it is a boon to the suffering to point out to them where they are sure of obtaining the wished for relief and cure. Under the care of the skillful Doctor the sick and troubled can divest themselves of their burdens of pain; lay aside their cross, and secure health and happiness. If you are sick or in trouble, do not hesitate. Read the advertisement and follow the advice. Do not forget the number nor the manner of directing your letter. Consultation Office, 540, Washington street, San Francisco. no5-3m

Heyer & Co.'s store, 406 Battery street, between Clay and Washington, San Francisco. Their stock is very extensive, of recent importation, and they are determined to close it out at the very lowest prices. Croquette and other games, Bagatelle Boards, etc. td

BROWNLOW AND PRENTICE.—The following is an extract from a letter written by Parson W. G. Brownlow to George D. Prentice. It shows Prentice up in rather an unenviable light; not greater, however, than the supporter of Little Mac deserves:

"There is a slight difference in the positions occupied by your family and mine, and, as a necessary consequence, your principles and mine differ. My wife and little children, after I had been incarcerated for three months and sent out of the country, were unceremoniously forced to pack up and vacate their house and home, and go North at their own expense, upon thirty-six hours' notice, and thus thrown upon my hands North, while my property remained here for the cause of the Confederacy.

My two sons entered the Federal army, and one of them is now home on crutches, because of wounds received in leading his cavalry regiment upon Wheeler's force in Middle Tennessee. My other son is in Gen. Gillem's command, and was in the fight when the great Kentucky horse thief, Morgan, was killed under whom your sons have been fighting against the Government upon whose bounty their contract hunting father is living. One of your sons was killed in Kentucky while on a horse-stealing expedition under rebel officers. Your other son is now on trial in Virginia for the murder of a brother rebel by the name of White.

Your wife is an avowed rebel, and ought to be sent South by the Federal authorities; and you are but one degree removed from a rebel and a traitor, having been completely played out. There is not a true-hearted Union man in your office, unless he be some one of the employés. Your paper is no longer union authority, but is rapidly sinking into disrepute, and meeting with that contempt its treason merits. With pity for the sorrows of a poor old man,

I am, &c., W. G. BROWNLOW."

TAKING DESPERATE CHANCES.—The reader can form a pretty good idea of the brave men and singular devices in naval craft now belonging to our navy, by a perusal of the following from a New York paper;

On Saturday, Nov. 19, the new torpedo vessel Stromboli made her first official trip in New York harbor with a view to testing her engines and torpedo machinery. Her inventor, Chief Engineer W. W. Wood, Captains Worden and Boggs and the engine builders were the only persons present, as it is desired that this invention shall be kept a secret for a time at least. Experiments were made in detaching torpedoes and in maneuvering the vessel in a variety of ways, but with the severest tests the vessel worked to the satisfaction of all concerned. The speed of the Stromboli under easy steam and while submerged as if in action, was about eight knots, and with the power she can develop could have been run up to ten knots. Picket-boat No 6, made nine knots easily. The following is the list of the officers of the Stromboli: First Assistant, John. L. Lay, Commanding: Second Assistant Engineers, Chas. H. Stone, J. B. Chadwick, John Smith; Third Assistant Engineer, Byron S. Heath. The Stromboli will sail in a few days for very important service. The officers of this vessel have received their appointments to this vessel with the understanding that if it should become a military necessity to destroy the vessel to prevent her falling into the hands of the enemy, they perish with her.

NEW PROCESS FOR SMELTING COPPER.—A gentleman in this city, who is interested in copper mines in Genesee Valley, Plumas county, showed us a letter yesterday from the proprietors of one of the mines in that locality, which is of a very encouraging character. Messrs Bolinger & Blood, who have a valuable mine there, have put up works for smelting copper ore, at a cost of some $30,000, under the superintendence of Mr. Chapman, who is said to have had great experience in smelting copper ore. The works have just been finished, and are represented to be an entire success. Mr. Chapman, we believe, claims to be the inventor of a new process for smelting, using charcoal mainly. Messrs. Bolinger & Blood are sanguine in their expectations of the entire success of the experiment, and if they are correct we may anticipate an entire change in the mode of smelting copper ore. Hitherto a great deal of tronble has been experienced in this business, and a vast outlay of money has been needed in order to construct smelting works. We do not know of more than three places in the world where copper ore is smelted on any great scale. Swansea, a seaport in Wales, is one of them, Boston another, and, unless we mistake, the Lake Superior copper mines the other. Smelting works were being erected at Antioch on the Bay of San Francisco but we do not know that they are in successful operation. If the new process succeeds and works can be put up at the small outlay demonstrated in the present instance, it will work an entire revolution in copper mining and we may look to that as one of the chief sources of future wealth to California. Hitherto about all of our copper ore has gone to Swansea for smelting, and the cost of carriage by land and sea has been enormous. We shall await further developments in regard to this new process with great interest.—Express.

BATTLE FLAGS.—A correspondent, writing from Washington recently, says:

George G. Moore, Company D, Eleventh West Virginia, and John Creed, Company D, Twenty-third Illinois Veterans, presented Secretary Stanton with two battle flags captured by them from the enemy at Fisher's Hill. Stanton, in receiving them, thanked the men on behalf of the Department for their gallantry, and directed them to proceed to the Adjutant General's office, where suitable medals would be prepared for them. Private Creed captured his flag in a novel manner. While the battle was in progress he got out of ammunition, and being close to a rebel color-bearer, picked up a stone, with which he knocked the rebel down and captured his flag.

Private Creed is a brother of Mrs. Low, wife of Governor Low.

NEW MATERIAL FOR PAPER.—California is continually giving evidences of new resources, and such as will be equal in value in many respects to gold and silver, for these new resources will save to us our gold and silver, and keep it within our own borders for home use. We have been shown samples of the bark and fibre of one of our soft-growing trees which gives promise of becoming very valuable as a material for making paper. S. P. Taylor, Esq., our neighbor and the Pioneer Paper Manufacturer of this coast, furnished us with samples of this bark, also the fibre, which has been experimented upon. To all appearance this material (the woody part) will bleach finely and make superior white paper, while the outer bark will make printing and wrapping paper. The tree is one of very rapid growth, and indigeonous to our state. If success marks this experiment, a fortune is in store for the enterprise, and Mr. Taylor deserves it.—Cal. Farmer.

PRIVATE MEDICAL INSTITUTE

Established by

DR. J. C. YOUNG, IN 1850,

For the Cure of Private Diseases of whatever nature

AND ALL FEMALE COMPLAINTS.

CONSULTING OFFICE,

540 WASHINGTON STREET,

SAN FRANCISCO, : : : : : CALIFORNIA

NO CURE, NO PAY.

Consultation by letter or otherwise, FREE. For direction of letters, see below.

THIS CELEBRATED INSTITUTE has enjoyed on this coast an uninterupted success of fourteen years, and has become one of the renowned Hospitals of the age. What the celebrated Lock Hospital is to London, and the no less renowned establishment of Ricord is to Paris, this Institute has become to the Pacific coast. The thousands annually received and cured place it in point of number of patients among the very first of the world, and the success of its treatment ranks it second to none.

PRIVATE DISEASES IN MALES and IRREGULARITIES IN FEMALES are the great destroyers of health. They insidiously attack the system and gradually undermine and destroy it; they drive the bloom from the check, the lustre from the eye, the strength and vigor from the frame; they give to the world puny and diseased offspring, and poison, through successive generations the race of man. The marks can be seen in Scrofula, Consumption, Cripples, the Idiotic, the Paralytic, the Insane, etc.

There is no more terrible scourge to the human race than those diseases arising from the contamination of Venerial Poison. The mildest forms, by retreating to the blood, hold ever over the one afflicted, the sword of destruction that is liable at any moment to fall and blight—to utterly destroy—all earthly hopes.

MERCURY, recognized as the most fatal medical enemy to man, combining with the Venerial, doubles in dangers. Those who have been treated with that pernicious mineral poison are not cured: the disease has only assumed a new form.

Do not be satisfied with partial cures that leave the poison to crawl through the system, eating its way into the tissues and organs beneath the apparently smooth surface, to burst out in the future with a virulence that will baffle the effects of medicine. WHEN PERFECT CURES can be obtained by consulting a physician whom long practice and thorough investigation into the causes of DISEASES of the URINARY ORGANS enables to determine at once the nature of the disease.

In all diseasses entrusted to the Doctor's care, PERFECT, SPEEDY and PERMANENT

Cures are Always Guaranteed,

In syphilis and its adjuncts; Gonnorhœa and its accompanying diseases; and all disorders of the Bladder, Kidneys and prostrate; Seminal Weakness; Diseases of the Heart and Lungs; Dyspepsia; Indigestion, Impotency; Incipient Consumption, and all diseases of the urinary organs, in either sex, cure always warranted, OR NO PAY REQUIRED at the PRIVATE

MEDICAL IVSTITUTE,

No 540 Washington street, San Francisco, Cal.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS OR SPERMATORROEA.

The young man who experiences that growing weakness in his muscular and mental organization should stop to consider whence it arises. He will find in the weakness of the back, trembling of the limbs, disordered digestion, unaccountable failing of the powers of the mind, distaste for society, dread of impending trouble, forebodings of evil, sleeplessness, troubled and lacivious dreams accompanied by growing deafness, loss of muscular power, and numerous other symptoms of disorganization, the positive traces of that most terrible and destructive of all diseases, Seminal Weakness—wasting away his powers, destroying his hope of life and manhood, and dragging him along the broken path of his existence toward a premature and loathsome grave. To him who finds his life dribbling out in the discharge of the vital principal of existence in nocturnal and diurnal emissions, the mere cessation of its appearance brings no assurance of relief.

Marriage, that holy office, the safeguard and hope of manhood, brings to such an one no hope of cure, but adds to his misery in the knowledge that the one who looks to him for so much of her happiness, is a victim of his evil, and an innocent companion of his punishment. He adds to his misery and disorder until hope leaves him. There is no resene except in proper and skillful treatment. Consult, then, at once, a physician whom long practice and careful research has made thoroughly conversant with every phase of the disease. Those who have become the victims of solitary vices, that dreadful, fascinating and destructive habit, which fills thousands of sick rooms with paralytics and consumptives, and hundreds of untimely graves with its misguided victims, should consult, without a moment's delay, one who will sympathize with their sufferings. To such the Doctor would respectfully address himself, giving to each and all assurance of a PERFECT and PERMANENT CURE, without hindrance from business, change of diet, or fear of exposure.

Do not forget the address. See below.

IMPORTANT TO FEMALES.

When a female is in trouble or afflicted with disease, and requires medical or surgical assistance, the enquiry should be, Where is there a physician who is fully competent to administer relief, and whose respectable standing in society recommends him to the confidence of the community? The Doctor, understanding how imperatively necessary these requirements are, feels called upon to interpose, and by the attention of the afflicted to the fact that he has been a Professor of Obstetrics and Female Diseases for twenty years, and is fully qualified to administer in all cases, both medically and surgically, not in a superficial manner, but in as thorough a manner as years of study and practice—both in hospitals and private families—can make, to save them from the hands of the unqualified, unscrupulous and designing. Therefore families can rely upon him as upon a father. All in affliction can find in him one who can feel and sympathize with and befriend them in trouble—one in whose secrecy and the utmost confidence can be placed. Consultation, by letter or otherwise, Free. See address below.

THE CELEBRATED FEMALE REMEDIES, compounded from the private prescription of Dr. Young, have now obtained a most extended popularity, and are correctly viewed to be the safest and surest remedies or the complaints for which they are applied. The constanuly accruing testimonials of their efficacy declare them to be pre-eminently superior in their action. No lady should be without these Renovating Agents. None genuine unless procured at this office.

PUTNAM MANUFACTURING CO.,
No. 13 Platt str., New York, Cleveland, Ohio, and Birmingham, Va.
S. C. NORTHROP, Agent.

WHAT EVERYBODY KNOWS:

That Iron well galvanized will not rust; that a simple machine is better than a complicated one; that a wringer should be self-adjusting and efficient; that thumb-screws and fastenings cause delay and trouble to regulate and keep in order; that wood soaked in hot water will swell, shrink and split; that wood bearings for a shaft to run in will wear out; that the Putnam Wringer, with or without cog-wheels, will not tear the clothes; that cog-wheel regulators are not essential, that the Putnam Wringer has ALL the advantages, and not one of the disadvantages above named; that all who have tested it, pronounce it the best Wringer ever made; that it will wring a Thread or a Bed-Quilt without alteration.

We might fill the paper with testimonials, but only insert a few to convince the skeptical, if such there be; and we say to all, wear Putnam's Wringer. Test it thoroughly with ANY and ALL others, and if not entirely satisfactory, return it.

Putnam Manufacturing Co.—Gentlemen:—I know from practical experience that iron well galvanized with zinc will not oxidize or rust one particle. The Putnam Wringer is as near perfect as possible, and I can cheerfully recommend it to be the best in use.

Respectfully yours, JNO. W. WHEELER,
Cleveland, Ohio.

Many years' experience in the galvanising business enable me to indorse the above statement in all particulars. JNO. C. LEFFERTS,
New York, Jan. 1864. No. 100 Beekman str.

We have tested Putnam's Wringer by practical working and know that it will do. It is cheap; it is simple; it requires no room, whether at work or at rest; a child can operate it; it does its duty thoroughly; it saves time and its saves wear and tear. We earnestly advise all who have much washing to do, with all intelligent persons who have any, to buy this Wringer. It will pay for itself in a year at most.
